The U.S. Housing Recovery: Lessons From Ohio

JULY 23, 2012

The American Action Forum and The Ohio State University Fisher College of Business hosted a panel discussion with housing experts and a keynote speech in Columbus, Ohio today. The event, “The U.S. Housing Market: Lessons from Ohio,” coincided with the release of a Forum paper showing that the pursuit of job and wage growth should be the focus of policymakers. The paper, “Foreclosures & the Housing Market Recovery: Focus on Ohio,” also shows that trying to prevent foreclosures can also prevent markets from healing. Watch video from the event here.
