Today the American Action Forum (@AAF) released an analysis of a bipartisan Senate reform proposal to reduce the regulatory burden for small and mid-size banks. The reform would exempt these banks from the Volcker rule and other regulatory regimes, allowing them to better provide capital to the economy.

Click here to read the research.