Op-ed: How to Build on the TCJA's Tax Success

NOVEMBER 1, 2024

In a new op-ed for The Wall Street Journal, AAF Board Member and former Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee Kevin Brady and AAF President Douglas Holtz-Eakin discuss the opportunity for business taxation reform as Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (TCJA) provisions expire next year.

An excerpt:

> Raising the standard of living is a nonpartisan goal—one the pro-growth provisions of the TCJA clearly advanced. Over the next year, Congress can do more than merely ensure these provisions don't expire: It should seize this opportunity to build on the gains in global competitiveness and growth fostered by the 2017 reforms.
