Today the American Action Forum released research examining the regulatory savings achieved under the Trump Administration in FY 2018. The research found that in FY 2018 the Trump Administration achieved $1.65 billion in regulatory savings, more than double the goal it had set for the fiscal year. Furthermore, AAF found that in FY 2018 agencies shifted toward more substantive deregulatory rulemaking compared to the regulatory delays used to achieve the savings seen in FY 2017.

Click here to read the research.