

Events

The Role of Global Insurers In Today's International Economy And Their Regulatory Challenges

SEPTEMBER 29, 2015
4:00 PM

In the aftermath of the financial crisis, Dodd-Frank created a wave of regulation targeting the banking industry while leaving insurance in the hands of state regulators. Unfortunately, with the Financial Stability Oversight Council's ability to designate and oversee non-bank institutions, insurance companies are caught in the crosshairs of state, national, and international regulators – each with different standards and demands.

The event will focus on the current state of the global insurance industry, the regulatory implications, and the possibility of a modernized, international standard.

Keynote Remarks by:

Representative Blaine Luetkemeyer, Chairman, House Financial Services Subcommittee on Housing and Insurance

Opening Remarks by:

Representative French Hill

Panel Discussion:

Meghan Milloy, Financial Services Policy Director, American Action Forum

Martin Boer, Director of Regulatory Affairs, Institute of International Finance

Justin Schardin, Associate Director of the Financial Regulatory Reform Initiative, Bipartisan Policy Center

Clay Lowery, Vice President, Rock Creek Global Advisors

Moderator:

Kevin Cirilli, Reporter, The Hill

Tuesday, September 29th at 4:00 pm

Remarks at 4:15 pm

B-354 Rayburn House Office Building

Wine and light hors d'oeuvres will be served.