AAF Analysis Finds EPA's Paperwork Burden Reaches Record, 188 Million Hours

MARISOL GARIBAY | JUNE 28, 2016

The American Action Forum (@AAF) released a new analysis of the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) record-setting paperwork burden. The AAF analysis finds that the EPA's paperwork burden has reached 188 million hours, a 23 percent increase since 2009. The EPA reached this record through a combination of lesser-known new requirements as well as a massive revision of existing paperwork collections.
