AAF Analysis Finds Revising Paris Agreement Pledge May Be the Best Route for the U.S.

PATRICK HEFFLINGER | APRIL 26, 2017

Today the American Action Forum (@AAF) released a new analysis examining possible U.S. policies on the Paris Climate Agreement. AAF finds that the U.S.' pledge under the Paris Agreement is more burdensome than the pledges from other nations. The analysis concludes that revising the U.S.' pledge under the agreement is a better approach for preserving U.S. foreign policy influence than a complete withdrawal.
