

Press Release

AAF Examines the Two-Year College Price Advantage

PATRICK HEFFLINGER | AUGUST 31, 2017

New American Action Forum (@AAF) analysis shows obtaining general educational requirements from a two-year institution of higher learning can benefit students seeking college degrees. The analysis highlights how obtaining general educational requirements from a two-year college can assist some students in reducing their debt load while offering a greater chance of degree completion.

Click here to view the analysis