AAF: Trump Administration on Track to Surpass Regulatory Budget Goals for FY2018

PATRICK HEFFLINGER | AUGUST 13, 2018

With less than two months left in FY2018, AAF's Dan Bosch looks at the status of the Trump Administration's regulatory budget. Bosch finds that the administration has significantly cut costs through deregulation, with $1.3 billion in regulatory costs savings, and will likely end FY2018 surpassing its regulatory goal. The Department of Labor leads all agencies with regulatory cost savings of $417.2 million already in FY2018.
