ICYMI, The Hill: Congress Can Help Small Business and American Workers

PATRICK HEFFLINGER | NOVEMBER 7, 2017

In today's The Hill AAF's Ben Gitis discusses the NLRB's joint employer rule and notes that today Congress will have the opportunity to help American workers and small businesses. See excerpt below:

“The NLRB’s ruling threatens to upend small businesses and impose a major barrier to job creation. Returning the joint employer standard to its traditional definition would provide much needed clarity and helpfully sidestep the economic pitfalls affiliated with this ill-conceived decision.”
