This week the American Action Forum released an overview of what to expect from the Trump Administration’s latest regulatory agenda. The overview shows that in 2018 Americans can expect to see a continued focus on deregulation.

“Of the 579 actions listed in the Unified Agenda as deregulatory or regulatory, 448 are deregulatory, while 131 are regulatory. If this plan is executed as written, that would put the administration at a ratio of 3.4 deregulatory actions for every regulatory action – well beyond the goal of two-for-one.”

Click here to read the full overview.