New Podcast Episode: Tax Policy in the American Jobs Plan and the Administration’s “Skinny” Budget

ALLISON EDWARDS | APRIL 15, 2021

It’s The AAF Exchange — your source for clear, data-driven insight into today’s economic and domestic policy issues.

In our latest episode, AAF’s Director of Fiscal Policy Gordon Gray discusses the tax policy changes in the American Jobs Plan and the administration’s newly released “skinny” budget. He examines the administration’s proposal to raise the corporate tax rate and establish a global minimum tax and how these changes could impact the economy. Gray also explains the key takeaways from the administration’s budget proposal and considers the implications of the American Rescue Plan Act’s bailout of underfunded private pension plans.

AAF products mentioned in today’s episode:
