New Podcast Episode: The Trump Administration's FY 2020 Regulatory Budget Results

ALLISON EDWARDS | OCTOBER 8, 2020

It's The AAF Exchange — your source for clear, data-driven insight into today's economic and domestic policy issues.

In our latest episode, AAF's Director of Regulatory Policy Dan Bosch discusses how the Trump Administration achieved its regulatory budget goal for the fiscal year (FY) 2020. He notes the biggest rules, both in terms of costs and savings, and whether rules around the COVID-19 pandemic could be rolled back. Bosch also discusses his latest insight on the economic value of the administration's rules blocked by legal action.

AAF products mentioned in today's podcast:

- Bosch and Bernard Zamaninia assess how much of the Trump Administration's regulatory agenda has been overturned by the courts in "Estimating the Economic Value of Trump Administration Rules Blocked by Legal Action."
- Bosch also highlights AAF's Reg Rodeo, a one-stop-shop tracking all regulations.
- AAF's COVID-19 Regulatory Tracker compiles and categorizes all of the government's pandemic-related regulations and explains the most significant ones.
