What's in the New Executive Order on Artificial Intelligence?

ANDREW EVANS | FEBRUARY 12, 2019

Yesterday, President Trump signed an Executive Order aimed at ultimately boosting the federal government's support for artificial intelligence (AI). AAF's Director of Technology and Innovation Policy Will Rinehart examines the Order and outlines its content in a new insight. The EO is an important first step to ensure continued American leadership in the area, Rinehart writes, but some of the biggest and toughest questions in federal AI policy still remain unsettled.
